

PAMELA TAYLOR

Happy 2022, everyone! Wishing you all the best for this new year and hoping it soon continues to lead us back to that “normal” that we all long for.

The last half of 2021 was anything but boring for me. We launched new covers for the Second Son Chronicles, had two highly successful BookBub promotions, and released Volume 6 of the series in mid-October. As much as I loved the original covers, I have to admit the new ones are really vibrant and appealing. To cap things off, I learned in November that Upon This Throne was named Runner-up Winner in Historical Fiction for the 2021 PenCraft Awards.

It was a bit of a bummer that the in-person portion of the Texas Book Festival last October was cancelled, but I’m hopeful for its return this year. And I’m excited to let you know I’ll be at the Amelia Island Book Festival Author Expo on Saturday, February 19th. If you’re anywhere in the northeast Florida/southeast Georgia neighborhood at that time, stop in and say hello. Then check out some other wonderful authors who I know will be there: Susan Gayle, whose WWII novel, The Caves of San Pietro, links the Spanish Flu, the Orphan Trains, and the liberation of Italy; Muriel Ellis Pritchett with her YA paranormal Not Myself Today and her feisty older women series; and Linda Rosen with her two Women’s Fiction offerings, The Disharmony of Silence and Sisters of the Vine.

First look

All caught up with the Chronicles? Wondering what's next for Alfred and all the characters you've made friends with? You only have to be patient a little bit longer. Volume 7 – Destiny – comes into the world on April 14th.

(Pssst . . . it's available for preorder now from the publisher at <https://www.blackrosewriting.com/historicaladventure/destiny> -- use promo code PREORDER2022 at checkout for a 15% discount. Preorder at other places you buy books will come closer to the release date.)

Here's the first look at its cover. I'm absolutely delighted with it – and keeping my fingers crossed that readers will be equally delighted with what's inside. And yes, as the release date gets closer, there'll be teasers on social media and on the Chronicles website to pique your curiosity. So be sure to follow and like the Chronicles Facebook page and follow me on Instagram or Twitter.

For now, back to writing and to looking for more opportunities to greet readers in person once again – one of my very favorite things to do.

Happy reading!

Pamela
